BURGLAR FISHED THROUGH WINDOW FOR EMPTY PANTS

Dropped Garment in Disgust When He Found Pockets Changeless.

Thief Works All Night Carrying Coal.

LEAVING ONLY FEW CHUNKS.

It was a cold-hearted thief that visited the coal house of Ed F. Hogedorn, 1630 Jones street, last night and stole a load of coal, leaving only a few lumps for the owner to realize that his coal bin was filled at one time. Yesterday Mr. Hogedorn had 25 bushels of coal placed in bank of the river and the nitro-gly. coal for use last night. This morn- homa recently ing when he went to the coal house to replenish the supply for the house he found only a few lumps of the black diamonds to tell the tale. No wagon tracks were evident and it is tional bank at Exeter, Tulare coun believed that the thief worked sev- ty, early today and escaped with eral hours carrying off the fuel. Mr. Hogedorn ordered another load of open the bank vault with a sledge coal today, and has loaded his shotgun for another visit of the thief.

When Claude Humphries, 1834 Guthrie avenue, awoke this morning and began to dress, he discovered that his trousers were missing. A search of the room was made, and then they were discovered on the ground near a window, where a thief had abandoned them. The window was raised and other evidence showed that the thief had stood outside the room and with a pole fished out the jeans. However, his cunning was unrewarded, for Mr. Humphries had removed his money from his pockets. He is employed at the Illinois Central shops and evidently the thief thought he would make a haul,

GAINES RETURNS TO GRACE CAPITAL

ALKS TO CROWD IN LEGISLA-TIVE HOTEL LOBBY,

THE MUMMIFIED EGG BUSINESS.

Washington, Dec. 16. (United Press.)-The robust figure and resonant voice of John Wesley Gaines, of "Tennessee, sah," may no longer grace the chamber of the house of representatives and animadvert on the iniquities of Wall street, but that same robust figure and resonant voice are by no means lost to the national

John Wesley, who went out in a laze of glory when he escorted President Taft-then president-elect-to the capitol for his inauguration, is esurrected.

Despite the efforts of the Democratic voters of the Sixth congressional district of Tennessee to shift the limelight from his heroic figure and their success in casting the glory of representing that section upon Hon, Joe Byrns, John Wesley is undismayed. He is back in our midst. Be it known that John Wesley was one of the few recreations of the last congress. Whenever things got very, very dull-which was quite often-John Wesley unlimbered his oratorical artillery, advanced his elocutiona-ary cavalry, held his verbal infantry in reserve, and began a wordy as sault upon Wall street.

From the failure of the tobacco rop to the latest storm that swept the great lakes-every evil that befell the country John Wesley charged to the iniquitous and abstract Wall

If the debate in the house waxed dry, some bored legislator would turn to John Wesley Gaines, of Tenessee, and implore:

"Tell us about Wall street, John." And John would.

John appeared in Washington this ear as soon as the congressional sesion began, despite the fact that cruel ate and an ungrateful constituency had barred him from lifting his voice in rigorous denunciation of Wal street. He called on President Taft and on leaving, held a score of newspaper men spellbound with a vituperative discourse on Wall street. He olds forth on the same theme nightly to an audience in the lobby of one of the legislative hotels.

SIZZLING LETTERS PRESENTED AGAINST ZELAYA'S NEPHEW.

Former Model Wants $100,000 for Damages to Tender Heart by Breach of Promise.

SAYS SHE LOVED ONLY ONE.

New York, Dec. 16 .- Seventeen etters, full of picturesque expresis of a tropical love, constituted part of the evidence today at the trial of Miss Elizabeth Juliette Hero's breach of promise suit against Dr. Anibal Zelaya. The plaintiff, who was scheduled for her second appearance on the stand, said she had hosen these from the mass of glowing epistles she received from young celaya when he wooed her during is attendance at Columbia Univer-

Zelaya is a nephew of the Nicaraian dictator. Miss Hero insists that he is wealthy and that $100,000 s none too high a price for her disappointed affections

Zelaya's counsel is trying to prove that, for from being blighted by the discontinuance of his client's devotion, Miss Hero accepted the attention of others after Zelaya ceased his courtship about two years ago.

Loved Only One. When Miss Hero took the stand Zelaya's lawyer assailed her with juestions about her alleged friendwith other men. She hoth denied that she had ever gone to a dance with another young Latin-American physician, Zelaya's friend, and would not even admit she had happy." played checkers with him. "I never loved any one else," she insisted. She told how she had purchased a trouseau two and a half years ago, expecting, she said to become Mrs. Zelaya within a month. The young Central American's income at that time, she said, was from $80 to $100 month. This brought a question from the defense.

"Do you know how much it costs wo to live " "No," replied Miss Hero, and later she admitted that she did not know even how much it cost to support
